About CLM Compliance

CLM as a business has been operating for more than 20 years, originally as a lighting maintenance company and now as a leading UK electrical and gas test & inspection company. From offering unrivalled customer service, our client base now includes prominent Government departments, multinational private sector brands and some of the biggest FM organisations in the UK.

CLM Compliance help over 6,000 UK organisations, ensuring that clients protect their staff, customers, visitors, property and possessions against the dangers associated with electricity, gas and power. We offer our own brand of compliance solutions backed up by our full UKAS accreditation and in house staff training facilities.

CLM Compliance at IOSH 10

Market leaders in electrical and gas compliance CLM will be showcasing its bundled electricity and gas safety offering at the IOSH 10 Conference and Exhibition. This year, CLM will offer visitors to the event a free property survey to establish the best route to achieving compliance.

CLM Compliance believes that complying with statutory and non-statutory regulations is paramount for H&S professionals, bearing in mind recent changes in legislation and the company currently helps over 6,000 UK organisations fulfil their obligations.

CLM Managing Director, Paul Caddick, said, "we have witnessed a more than 25% increase in sales in the past two years as those responsible for health and safety become more aware of their obligations. Crucial to achieving this is to employ a suitable company. CLM Compliance has more than 20 years' industry experience helping organisations protect their staff, customers, visitors, property and possessions against the dangers associated with electricity and gas. Our unique bundled electricity and gas service offers great control, is backed up by full UKAS and CHAS accreditation and is carried out by a nationwide network of qualified and experienced engineers.”
